My wife Susan and I grew up in Bellingham. We have been Lummi Island property owners since 1979 and permanent island residents for more than seven years. Three generations of my family currently reside on Lummi Island.

My work as an orthopedic surgeon has taken me all over the world:

Peace Corps Physician, Brazil; 1967-69

Care-Medico, Tunisia 1973-74

Indian Health Service 1974-77

Private & group practice (orthopedic surgery), Bellingham 1977-2010

PeaceHealth Wound Healing Center, Interfaith Community Health Center (volunteer) 2010 - present

International volunteer medical service Including:

Peace Corps, Care-Medico, IHS, and multiple trips to Brazil, Haiti, Vietnam, Uganda, Dominican Republic, Ethiopia.

Lummi Island is the place where I come home for rest, relaxation and the nurturing effects of time with friends and family. My exposure to the wider world has given me a unique appreciation of the Heritage Trust's mission to protect and care for the island environment.
